

press release

22 November 2010

Share of the week from The Share Centre

Nick Raynor, investment advisor at The Share Centre picks Chesnara, a life insurance underwriting company who also provide portfolio asset management for retirement needs as his share of the week, here's why:

"Chesnara, who mainly operate in the UK, and engages in underwriting activities associated with death, disability and health, are a top tip for investors seeking income.

"Investors will be interested to know the regulatory surplus of cash stands at 330%, allowing the company to pursue the dividend policy. The yield currently stands at an impressive 7.5%, and we expect this to continue to increase.

"The life insurance sector has been alight with takeover news recently which highlights the value of such companies. This could be advantageous for investors in the short term as we expect Chesnara to benefit from the speculation, and to possibly become target or predator in the longer term.

"Income seekers and investors looking for takeover opportunities need look no further and should consider Chesnara."
